The following letter from Daniel Webster to the great Union Meeting in New York City, was read amid loud applause:

The voice of such a meeting will be heard and respected; it will rebuke disobedience to the laws, actual or threatened; it will tend to check the progress of mad fanaticism; it will call men who are honest, but who have been strangely misled, back to their duty; and it will give countenance and countenance and countenance to the faithful friends of Union throughout the

When the commercial interests of the great metropolis of the country speaks, with united hearts and voices, expressing its conviction of the presence of the great danger, and its determined purpose to meet that danger, to combat with it and overcome it, the example is likely to rouse good men everywhere;

I concur, gentlemen, in all the political principles contained in the resolutions, a copy of which has been sent to me; and I stand pledged to support those principles, publicly and privately, now and always, to the full extent of my influence, and by the exertion of every faculty which I possess. This last measure, gentlemen, is not such a measure as I had prepared before I left the Senate, and which of course I should have supported if I had remained in the Senate. But it received the sanction of the two Houses of Congress and of the United States. It is the law of the land, and as such is to be respected and obeyed by all good citizens. I have heard no man whose opinion is worth regarding deny its constitutionality, and those who counsel violent resistance to it counsel that which, if it take place, is sure to lead to bloodshed and to the commission of capital offences. Gentlemen, I am led to the adoption of your last resolution in an especial and emphatic manner, by every dictate of my understanding, and I embrace it with full purpose of heart and mind. Its sentiment is my sentiment. With you, I declare that I " range myself under the banner of that party whose principles and practice are most calculated to uphold the Constitution and to perpetuate our glorious Union."

Gentlemen, I am here to recruit my health, enfeebled as it has been by ten months of excessive labor and indescribable anxiety. The air of these my native hills renews my strength and my spirits. I feel its invigorating influence while I am writing these few lines; and I shall return shortly to my post to discharge its duties as well as I can, and resolved in all events, that, so far as depends upon me, our Union shall pass through this fiery trial without the smell of smoke upon its garments.

I am, gentlemen, with very sincere regard, Your obliged fellow-citizen, and ohed't serv't. DANIEL WEBSTER.

To Massis. F. S. Lathrop, Gerard Hallock, Chas. G. CARLETON, P. S. DURYEE, Commettee, New

It must be cause of regret among Southern men generally, without respect to party, that this letter from the "great expounder" should have been marred by the manner in which allusion is made in it to the Fugitive Slave Law. Mr. Webster says: "This the torches of the Constitution and the Union. If last measure, gentlemen, is not such a measure as I had prepared before I left the Senate, and which, of course, I should have supported if I had remained in the Senate." Mr. Webster would, in all probability, have voted for the present law, if he had remained in the Senate; but it is known, and he alludes to the fact, that shortly before he left that body he had laid upon its table a bill of his own on the subject, prepared during the month of February, 1850. That bill gave to escaped slaves, in so many words, trial by jury in the free States! And that is the bill which Mr. Webster says he would have supported, if he had remained in the Senate. This fact is but another evidence of the strength of the anti-Slavery and aggressive feeling of the North.

Mr. Webster, it seems to us, might have omitted all allusion to this bill of his; and we cannot see that there was any reason why he should have pursued a different course.

UNION MEETING AT THE NORTH.

It is stated that a call for a Union Meeting, similar to that held in New York City, is circulating in Philadelphia. It is expected to be held soon, and will speak in thunder-tones the sentiments of Philadelphians against the fanatics and their accursed

A large Union Meeting was also called at Geneva, of the Union is now in the hands of the Northern people. They may save or destroy it. Their decision must be rendered soon. Fanaticism, like time and tide, " waits for no man."

The Turkish Ambassador, Amin Bey, has been receiving the hospitalities of the citizens of Massachusetts during the last few weeks and exmining the various factories at Lowell, the celebrated Quincy granite quarries, the hospitals, prisons, poor-houses, and all other institutions of note, and has expressed himself highly delighted with the admirable management of all. He spent three days at the hospitable mansion of the Hon. Daniel Webster, at Marshfield.

The Charleston Mercury states that a quantity of easter oil, manufactured from seed grown in the vicinity of that city, has been shipped to Baltimore. The article, which is represented as being of a superior quality, was prepared by Mr. C. Alfs, who has gone extensively into the business. The seed from which the shipment under notice was made yielded thirty bushels to the acre, and sold at two dollars per bushel. The Mercury thinks that quite a lucrative business, both to the planter and manufacturer, will ted by Hon. William S. Ashe, by the citizens of spring up in this new article of export.

GATESVILLE, (N. C.) Sept. 6, 1850.

Dear Sir :—The recent political battle so gloriously achieved by the Democratic Republican party of the old " North State" in the election of their nominee for Governor, and a handsome majority on joint ballot in the next Legislature, calls forth our warmest praise to those who, amid impending storms and tempests and surrounded by a destructive enemy, bore the toil, labor and fatigue of the day. And as your perseverence, energy, and untiring devotion to the great principles long and zealously contended for by the Democratic Republican party, assisted greatly in producing the victory above mentioned, we offer you our sincere thanks for the noble stand you occupied in favor of Free Suffrage; your able and satisfactory vindication of the justice and equality of the principle being conceded by patriots and philanexample is likely and when the country will thropists to be in unison with the spirit of the times and the genius of our institutions.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW. The papers, North and South, are filled with the momentous bearings of this question. It seems to swallow up all other considerations-for upon its perservation, we candidly believe, depends the existence of the Union. The extreme Eastern horizon is dark enough. Indeed, we should not be surprised to hear the human blood has crimsoned the streets of Boston. The villainous, detestable fanatics seem bent on bringing down upon their lawless heads, the indignation of an insulted people, the strong arm of the civil and the military power itself. If the President and the Federal officers do their duty, this law will be executed, "at all hazards, and to the last extremity." Threatening as that view may be, we are pleased to see a few brighter streaks in other parts of the horizon. The glorious Union meeting in New York, with its tens of thousands of patriotic spirits clustered around the country's altar, speaks out thunder-tones of rebuke to miserable fanatics. We trust that the patriotic strain will be caught up and run like fire over the whole North, blasting the traitors, and lighting up this meeting falls dead, the Union itself will be gone Rich. Eng.

A REVERSE OF FORTUNE. The Milwaukee Advertiser, furnishes a remarkable instance of the changes which sometimes occur in a man's lifetime. Congress, at its late session created a new office in the Attorney General's bureau-that of "Copying Clerk," with a salary of $2000, which has been given by Crittenden to Ex-Chancellor George M. Bibb, formerly a Senator of the U.S. from Kentucky, and for a short time Secretary of the Treasury under President Tyler.

How strange are the vicisitudes of life and the vascillations of fortune. Mr. Crittenden was a law student in the office of Judge Bibb, at a time when the latter had acquired high professional and political distinction. Judge Bibb now, having served with eminent credit in many of the highest offices of the state and nation, at an age, if we are not mistaken, above four score, finds himself in the humble office of clerk to his former pupil.

GETTING INSURED. The Troy Post relates a " good ioke " of Jacob Barker, the Quaker, who, hearing the loss of one of his vessels which he had omitted to get insured, wrote to a broker, with whom he had spoken on the subject, as follows: . Dear friend: If thee has not filled up the policy which I bespoke on Saturday, thee need not, as I have heard from the vessel." The broker, in fact had not filled up the policy, but presuming from the tenor of Jacob's note, that the vessel was safe, and tempted by what seemed a good chance to clutch his per centage without risk, he filled it up forthwith and sent it to Jacob, with the assu-New York, on Saurday last. > A BEAUTIFUL FLOWER. A friend presented us a day or two since with a curiosity in the shape of a flower which we think is one of the greatest wonders of the floral kingdom we have ever seen. It is about the size of a walnut, perfectly white, with five leaves, resembling very much indeed the wax plant. Upon the blooming of the flower, in the cup formed by the leaves is the exact image of a dove, lying upon its back, with its wings extended. The peak of the bill, and the eyes are plainly to be seen, and a small leaf, before the flower arrives at maturity, forms the outspread tail. This leaf can be raised or shut down by the fingers without breaking or apparently injuring it—until the flower reaches its full bloom when it drops off. We regret our inability to give a technical description of this curiosity at this time, but hope to do so shortly, as one has been promised us by a person every way qualified to write it. George E Badger, the Hon. William H. Haywood, Jr., and York and Philadelphia, an elegant and extensive "Bug" Oliver? Why " their fame is no more to be hemmed in by State lines than theirftelenis are to be circumscribed within the same narrow limits."

We are connected, as all our customers know-and it they don't know it, they may-with no Northern House -but are Tailors ourselves-buy our own goods, and import quite as many of what we purchase in proportion to our business, as any House in this State or out of it. There is no Establishment here or elsewhere that possesses any advantages over us. We buy where everbody else buys, and we think we understand our business and buy as cheaply. We say our CLOTHING is equalto any ever offered for sale in North Carolina, and, we think superior, being judges ourselves of clothing. Of that though, we will leave the public to decide, when they examine for themselves. One thing is certainwithout intending to reflect upon any one-we will sell our clothing cheaper than the same articles can be bought for in any of the Northern cities; and as cheap as any hody that comes here, who does not stea! his clothing ready made.

Our stock embraces Drab. Black, Blue, Green, Gray and other OVERCOATS from $6 to $20 and upwards CLOAKS, full circle, $18 and upwards. Frock, dress, and sack COATS from $7 to $12 and upwards. PAN TALOONS, all colors and prices, from $4 to $8 -VESTS, all kinds and all sizes, at all prices from $1 25 to $5. In fact, every thing that can be found in any similar establishment in the Union.

We are North Carolinians. We are permanently located here, and it we sell as cheap as others, why not give us the preference? If we do not sell as good goods at as small a price, we will not ask your patronrge. Call ! call ! call ! before your purchase, at

READY MADE CLOTHING, At Wholesale and Retail. E have just received from one of the largest and best established Houses in the United States, one of the largest and hest assorted Stocks ever brought to this City, a Stock that would favorably compare with the Custom Work of any Establishment in the Union, which we are instructed to sell at unprecedented low prices, and to which we invite the attention of Country

Merchants, citizens of Raleigh, the surrounding Country, and Members of the next General Assembly, and ask them to call and examine our Stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we are determined to sell at prices that will defy competition. Country Merchants need have no fears of finding us with a broken assortment, as we shall continue to have large additions throughout the Season. In addition to the above, we have a full assortment of fine Shirts, Jenny Lind and other patterns, together with Silk, Merino, Lambs wool Shirts and Drawers. All of which we will sell as low as they can be purchased of any Establishment in New York or any other A. B. STITH & CO.

Raleigh, Nov. 6, 1850. CITY OF RALEIGH.

A Desirable Residence for Sale. THE Executrix of the late Louis D. Henry, offers for sale his late Residence, near the City of Raleigh. The Dwelling-House is a large and commodious one, and remarkably well built, with all out houses complete. It has about 15 or 17 acres of land attached, under the highest cultivation. The premises being out of the limits of the Corporation is not subject to the City Tax, and still the situation is convenient, and within fifty yards of the Governor's Mansion, in an excellent neigh borhood. The terms of sale would be liberal. D. K. McRAE. Raleigh, July 15, 1850.
